Dear Dr. Tan,

After checking your reply and the paper, the academic editor suggested a minor revision:

Since the present paper is a review, I think it can be accepted for publication if the two following criteria, suggested by the comments of the referees are included:

- 1) it is stated clearly that most of the considerations are based on yet unpublished papers of the author, so the review mainly represents an expression of the point of view of the author;
- 2) the criticisms of the referees are explicitly included even when not in agreement with the point of view of the author.

Please feel free to upload your response to the academic editor and the revision at the link by 13 March 2023:
